DISCONTINUANCE

This rider will terminate and the additional premium therefor will cease to be payable when and if:

1. claims for benefits which in total equal to or exceed one hundred percent (100%) of Cash Sum, before taking into account the reduction of benefits stated in Reduction of Benefits of this rider (where applicable), have been admitted under Section C of the Table of Benefits; or
2. the Policy, accompanied by a written request for termination of the said provision, is delivered to the Company for endorsement to that effect; or
3. the age of the Life Assured on an anniversary of the commencement of the Policy is sixty years next birthday; or
4. the Company decides to terminate this provision at any time by giving 7 days notice in writing to the Life Assured. Such notice sent by ordinary post to the last known address of the Life Assured shall be deemed good notice. Whenever this provision is so terminated, the Company shall return the unearned portion of the premium paid. Termination shall be without prejudice to any claim arising prior to the date of termination; or
5. the Policy lapses, becomes void, or is surrendered for cash, or is converted into a paid-up assurance or into an extended term assurance or is otherwise terminated pursuant to the provisions of the Policy or any endorsement or endorsements thereon; or
6. the Life Assured engages in service in the naval, military or air force of any country at war whether such war be declared or undeclared.

If for any reason a premium or premiums is received by the Company for this provision after it shall have been terminated as above, the receipt by the Company of the same shall not constitute a continuation of this provision but any premium or premiums so paid shall be refunded and the Company shall be under no liability in respect of this provision.
